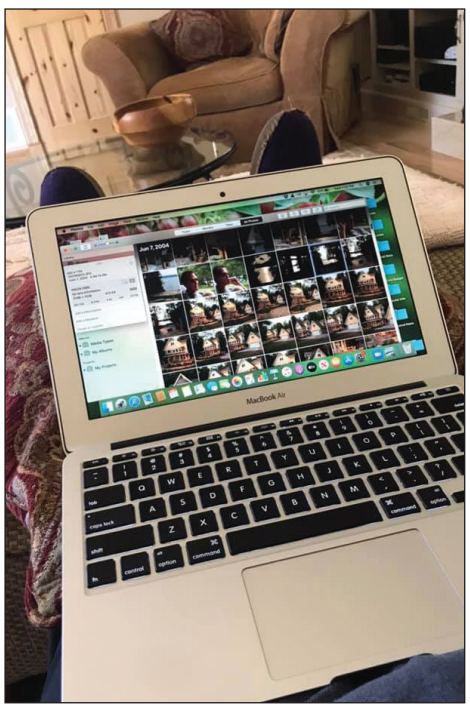
At a distance ...

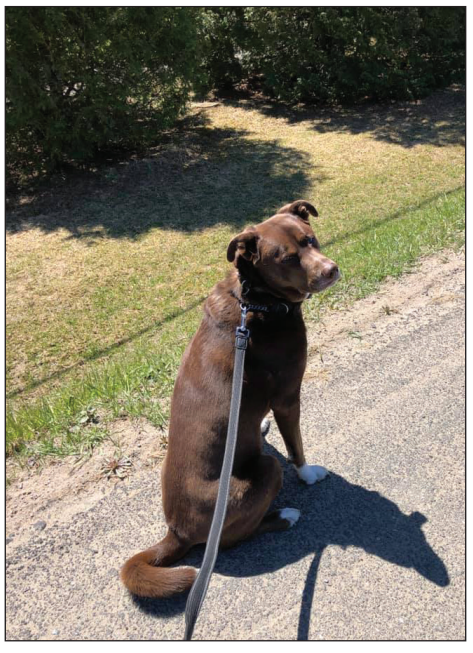
Readers share how they're making the best of physical distancing. Share with us! Send in your photos of your kids' artwork, pictures of what you and your family are up to, craft projects, best binge-worthy TV shows - and we'll share them here. Email jenn@haliburtonpress.com

Laura Mount of Algonquin Highlands says: "Since it's too cool to garden right now, I made bagels this afternoon."



"Digitizing and tagging all the family photos," writes Trish Hewitt.

"Finding new places to walk away from public spaces," writes Julie Rittenhouse.



"Lots of walking with our pup Bentley! We are so lucky to live where we do, and with this extra time I've really been soaking in how appreciative we are to live here," writes Tatum Rae Upton.

"Baking, baking and baking," writes Michelle Stapleton.

S is for Sheep Shearing. Have you ever wondered about the "right" way to shear a sheep? Don't you worry, this 1940 poster will give you all the info you need ... in just 43 easy steps! We even have the shears, though ours are a bit more low-tech.

T is for Toy Train. The railway arrived here in 1878 and completely changed how people travelled to and from Haliburton. This lovely little engine comes from a time when toys were made to last.

U is for Undergarments. In this case, a cotton corset cover, which would have been used under an outfit to disguise the lines and boning of an actual corset.

To help you visit the museum from home, the Haliburton Highlands Museum has shared its museum alphabet - one item for every letter.

Chef Chris cooks with community during COVID-19

ZACHARY ROMAN
County Life Staff

On May 2, Rhubarb restaurant in Carnarvon hosted their first takeout night since the provincial government announced that all restaurants can be open for takeout only due to COVID-19. They expected to serve around 25 meals and ended up serving close to 120, while live music from Haliburton's own Nick and Benton wowed the physically-distanced lineup.

It was a welcome busy night for chef Christoph Carl and his wife, Terri Mathews-Carl, who own Rhubarb together. If you weren't able to make it to the first take-out night, don't worry because Chris and his family have been doing something else to keep busy too.

They have been creating their own video series called "Cooking With Chris," where you can get step-by-step instructions on how to create delicious meals in your own home. "There was a callout through President's Choice to do some cooking at home videos for chefs," said Mathews-Carl. "The kids and I saw it and we were home and we thought he'd be perfect for it."

At first, Carl didn't want to do the videos because he felt a little shy and nervous about it. He'd never done anything like it before. Mathews-Carl and the kids spent two weeks hounding Carl and said at first they thought he did it just to get them off his back. But when the first video was done, he was quite pleased with the results.

Carl's 15-year-old daughter, Ellie, has been having tons of fun filming and editing the videos. And Carl himself has been getting excited thinking about what to make next. "It gave him some excitement about cooking again and what different recipes he could offer that people could do at home easily enough, but still taste as good as a restaurant," said Mathews-Carl. "It just took off from there. We've had so many people send us in videos and pictures of their family who have made the same meal."

Violet Humphries, left, and Tristan Humphries, right, show off their meal made with the assistance of the "Cooking With Chris" video series. /Submitted by Joleen Thomas

One of those families is Joleen Thomas's, who were familiar with Carl and his restaurant before "Cooking With Chris" started. Rhubarb is the only restaurant in the county they have eaten out at together, as Carl has been able to accommodate Thomas's oldest daughter Olivia's many anaphylactic allergies.

Two of Thomas's kids, 12-year-old Violet Humphries and 10-year-old Tristan Humphries watched a "Cooking With Chris" video and made dinner for the whole family. Thomas's thoughts on the meal? "Oh my gosh, it was so good, it was so great. And they had so much fun making it."

Thomas was impressed that Carl has been giving his free time to the community even though no one can go to Rhubarb and spend their money right now, except by ordering for takeout. "He's giving out something that's still making us feel connected," said Thomas.

Mathews-Carl said that some of the "Cooking With Chris" videos have received upwards of 20,000 views on Facebook. Additionally, the Ontario's Highlands Tourism Organization website has made the video series their Monday feature.

"I think this is a great way for the community to see [Carl]. They're used to popping their head into the kitchen and saying hi to him when they come to the restaurant," said Mathews-Carl. "I think it's just been a really nice way on both sides for him to feel connected and for people to see him and feel like it's all gonna be OK, he's still there and everything's good."

You can find "Cooking With Chris" videos on Rhubarb's Facebook and Instagram accounts.

Ready to ride
Addison St. Cyr of Gooderham rolls through Haliburton's Head Lake Park following a snowstorm on May 8, on his bicycle, which was repaired earlier in the season by local teacher Blake Paton. Paton has been repairing bikes and giving away donated bikes during the coronavirus pandemic as a way to keep people active. When cycling, it's important to wear a helmet as 63 per cent of cyclists who died in a cycling collision between 2010 and 2014 were not wearing helmets. /DARREN LUM Staff

I Found a Baby Bird

MONIKA MELICHAR
Special to County Life

HAVE YOU EVER come across a baby bird and wondered what you should do? Should you rescue it or do you leave it alone?

Determining whether the bird is injured or orphaned and needs your help, depends on its age, what species it is, and how it is behaving.

If you see a baby bird that is clearly injured or in imminent danger, or it is lethargic, cold, bleeding or has been caught by a cat, it must be rescued and brought into care.

If it has fallen from the nest, and is featherless, or only has soft, downy feathers and cannot stand up yet, then it needs to be placed back into the nest, if possible. Look up and see if you can find the nest and pop it back in. Mama bird will not mind if you touch it, that is just an old wives tale!

If the nest has been destroyed or blown out of the tree, gather up as much of the nesting material as you can, adding some dry grass if needed, and line a wicker or berry basket with it. You can wedge, wire, nail or bungee this new nest to the tree again and watch from afar for the parents to return. They will usually return within the hour.

Most baby birds leave the nest within three weeks of hatching. They may still have some tufts of down sticking through their feathers, and open their mouths, begging for food. They flutter, hop and often tumble headfirst as they learn to fly.

These babies are fledglings. They are young and naïve and the world is new to them. Just watch from a safe distance for at least 15 minutes and you are bound to see a parent come to feed the baby.

You will rarely see a group of baby birds huddled close together on the ground. The parents always spread the fledglings out so they do not attract attention, giving them the best possible chance of surviving these few vulnerable days on the ground.

Now, if the baby bird you found is definitely injured, sick or orphaned, cradle it with a soft tight-knit cloth and put it into a box. Keep it in a warm and quiet place. Do not feed it or give it water! The wrong foods can cause more harm, and water can easily asphyxiate them. Adding a hot water bottle wrapped in a towel and placing it near the bird is essential in providing them with an external source of heat.

Baby birds need specialized care, frequent feedings of species-specific foods, and proper socialization so call us right away. Woodlands Wildlife Sanctuary is always here to help.

Monika Melichar runs the Woodlands Wildlife Sanctuary in Minden Hills, a volunteer-based charity that rehabilitates and releases sick, orphaned and injured wildlife back into the wild. To find out more about the sanctuary, go to woodlandswildlifesanctuary. ca.

Top 10 alternate alarm clocks

STEVE GALEA
Humour Columnist

I THINK WE can all agree that these are different times and our way of life is changing. If this continues, I can envision a day when we discard our alarm clocks and instead turn to more natural ways of being roused from a good night's sleep.

Here are my top 10:

1. Marauding bears: Nothing gets people moving in the morning like a group of marauding bears. There's nothing better to ensure you wake up completely alert and, in some cases, regular. All you need to do is leave out some garbage.
2. A puppy: If you want to wake up at a regular hour – and by that I mean in the middle of the night – get yourself a puppy.
3. A Trump tweet: Frankly, I can't think of anything more alarming.
4. The other hobos: Sure, no one plans on riding the rails with a bindle over their shoulder, but the workplace is going to look a lot different for some of us. The good news is your co-workers are sure to wake you up before the arrival of the 515.
5. The rooster you're about to have for breakfast: A rooster might not be the most palatable meal but, if you eat that one, it sends a message to the others.
6. An emergency alert from the province, reporting another missing rooster.
7. How your beard tickles after sleeping for 20 years.
8. The other people who'd like to use the park bench.
9. That discount burrito.
10. The realization that those goats aren't going to milk themselves.

Trail

Cattails swaying beneath smears of clay Sky,
Wind stealing stillness from Air, shearing the cattails of their fur, that floats through Air, like cotton, skimming my fingers, that clasp tufts of fluff, feeling the softness before I blow it away, listening to Wind slither through the straw-coloured reeds,
the sound of its restlessness slinking through me, as I stand on the trail, the place where open space replaces boulders and trees, the slab of Sky widening, as the smudge of Sun tries to seep through the cracks.
I gaze out across the marsh, at the drowned desert of sticks that used to be trees, their branches and leaves entangled with one another, and maybe their roots still are, clinging by threads to shreds of earth buried by water.
I wonder how long ago this colony flourished, and what kind of trees they were,
before Wind and water and time whittled them into bones, still leaning into one another, like the hills of trees that surround them like a fortress,
these forests of protectors, waiting for seedlings to sprout, watching for sprigs that erupt from stumps,
a hidden world stirring beneath the earth,
that springs into being, growing and flourishing,
like these relics once did.
I remain standing on the trail, flanked by water on either side, haunted by the beauty of what I see,
undaunted by the stretch of trail that unfurls in front of me, fissures forming in the slab of clay Sky, letting light drip through.
I turn to gawk at the splash a beaver leaves behind, as his fur sinks beneath the water, and he slinks towards wherever Home is,
Wind, moaning, rootless, along the trail, thrashing in the grass, writhing in the reeds.
I ruffle the fluff of a cattail head, softness exploding in my hand, before Wind blows it away,
sweeping my feet along the ground, towards whatever I find,
as the trail narrows, and I am flanked by boulders and trees again, moss crawling along rocks, my eyes climbing higher and higher,
searching for nests that rest in the crooks of trees,
their branches flailing like open arms,
receiving Sky.

Haliburton County Public Library At Home

Knotty Plarn Tote

While our buildings might be closed, we still want you to be able to enjoy your public library. So, here at HCPL at Home we'll be giving you a maker project to try every week that you can make with things that you already have around the house, or that are easy to get locally.

If you end up making a project please post photos with the hashtag, #HCPLatHome, we would love to see what you create.

Materials:

Plastic grocery bags
Scissors
Wood Handles

Instructions:

For the Plarn:

Fold grocery bags lengthwise in half and fold again. Cut away bag seam, cut two-inch strips until you reach the bag's handle to create loops of plastic. Recycle seams and handles.

Prepare 36 strips with three loops in each. (If you end up wanting your bag longer you can extend your strips using a slip knot and adding as you go.)

For the Bag Body:

Fold strip in half and place fold through wood handle and attach with slip knot. Continue attaching strips to handle until covered (18 loops on each handle shown, amount will vary depending on the size of your handles). Tie a knot approx one-inch down from the handle for first row. Divide strand loops and tie the next row of knots one-inch down skipping the first strand to form mesh pattern and to join body of the bag. Add additional loops to each strand as needed.

Continue to desired length.

Finishing:

Knot strands together as desired to close the bottom of bag and cut fringe to desired length.

Old-Fashioned Service
Never Goes Out of Style

Haliburton County Public Library At Home

OverDrive Read

We offer numerous services online, including OverDrive Read. You can view the video explaining the service live on Facebook or archived on YouTube.

The Libby app is a great choice for e-books and e-audiobooks but it is only compatible with Windows 10, Android and iOS systems. If you are running an older version of Windows, you will need to use a different program to access digital content. This can be done quite easily, right from our website.

To get started, head to the haliburtonlibrary.ca website and click on "E-Books & Audiobooks" from under the Quick Links section of our home page. On the next page, click the link under "Visit the Ontario Library Service Download Centre" to open a new tab with Overdrive.

On the Overdrive website you'll have to sign in to browse our catalogue. Click "Sign In" on the right side of the page, select Haliburton County Public Library as your library, and enter your library card number and PIN. You can browse by subject or collection, or search for a specific title. If the book you are interested in is checked out, you will have to place a hold. For books available now, you can click "Borrow." In the next window, click "Read now in browser" to open a new tab and start reading.

To turn the page: click on the right side of the screen to move forward, left to move backward.

To access the menu: click in the center of the screen. You will see a progress bar at the bottom and the bookmark and search buttons up top. Click the three lines on the right to open settings.

To read offline: under the settings menu, click "Offline Access." Download the book and save the page as a bookmark in your browser, or simply leave the tab open. Enjoy your book wherever; no internet required!

The video "OverDrive Read" will be live from the library's Facebook page on May 22 at 2 p.m. All videos are archived on our YouTube channel bit.ly/hcpl-youtubew.

WE DON'T BREW OUR BEER FOR THE AWARDS.

BUT HE DOES!

Our brewmaster, Andrew Kohnen, threw away a successful career in logistics to pursue his dream of reconnecting with the brewing roots of his family. This carried him to the UK's prestigious Brewlab in Sunderland, England, where he procured the alchemy that would drive his signature brewing style.

He took what he could from there and ventured to Scotland, Cornwall, and ultimately to Krefeld, Germany, working in the same brewery that had belonged to his ancestors. He came home to Canada for Hockley.

You could call it dumb, but we call it destiny.

Minden diamond will sparkle

Highlights

Kayak racers

Hard work has paid off for the committee promoting this summer's World Cup whitewater races in Minden. They will be getting national media coverage.
Please see page 2.

Roads

The update of the needs study for Haliburton County roads was presented to council last week. Funding cutbacks are paving the way to bumpy roads.
Please see page 7.

Hurdler

HHSS Hurdler Darren Warburton shattered all records at the COSSA track meet last Thursday in Napanee. And, just to make sure, he did it twice.

TV listings are included in This Week in the highlands for the summer.

The senior students at Archie Stouffer Elementary School hit a high note Thursday evening with their annual music night. The concert provided an opportunity for the students, individually and in groups, to demonstrate the musical talents acquired during the past year. Concentration shows in the faces of grade eight band members Corby Kent, left, and Danny Garbutt, indicative of the effort made by all performers.

Council okays Minden Park

The first phase of the Minden Township Park plan will get underway this summer now that both provincial and municipal funding are in place.

While commenting on the new municipal budget last week, Reeve Ray Moore noted that council will be transferring the required $78,173 from the parks reserve fund for use on this project.

Two weeks ago council received word that a provincial grant for the project had been approved. At that time, though, it was not clear whether the municipality would be able to come up with the matching funds required to receive the grant.

The project is being funded equally by the municipality and the province and is expected to cost almost $160,000. It involves the creation of a new ball diamond, a playground, washrooms, a parking area and tree planting. The Minden Township Park Plan was updated in 1987 and Parks Manager Ivan Ingram submitted the grant application a year ago.

Ingram says he was surprised that the Ministry of Tourism approved the grant this year. He said that when he had not heard by the end of April, he figured the application had been turned down.

The new ball diamond will be built next to the present lower diamond behind the arena and curling club. The creation of the new ball diamond is expected to account for about half the cost of this phase of the park plan. It includes a backstop and fencing, lights and electrical, sod, magnetic bases, players benches and dugouts, three sets of bleachers and two scoreboards.

The children's playground, which will be located next to the two ball diamonds, will be a metal or wood prefabricated unit and is expected to cost about $8,000.

The washroom facilities will be complete with showers. This 836-square-foot building will also include a storage area and control panels for the lighting at the ball diamonds. This building is expected to cost more than $50,000.

A new parking lot will also be built as part of this project and there will be some tree planting done around the baseball fields.

The Minden Township Park masterplan has been in place since 1970. it was updated in 1978 and again in 1987. However, few of the recommendations have been implemented until now.

As another part of the park plan, the Parks Department has cleared the underbrush in the area east of the ball diamond, where 70 campsites will be located.

The second phase of this project is expected to be more costly than the first. It involves the creation of recreational trails in the southern half of the park.

Snowdon taxes will rise 17%

Snowdon Township residents are being slapped with a 17 per cent increase in their property taxes this year as a result of the new budget approved by council on May 15.

The overall tax hike is the result of a 29 per cent increase in the municipal levy, a 16.9 per cent increase in the education levy and a 4.6 per cent increase in the county levy.

The largest increase is in the roads budget, which is going up by $23,473 this year for a 20 per cent increase. High percentage increases are seen in the budgets for fire protection (75 per cent) and environment (162 per cent).

The budget for general government is going up by three per cent.

Excluding the county and education levies, the municipality will be raising $97,973 through taxation this year. That's an increase of 29.2 per cent over the previous year.

Part of this hike is due to a roll back in the funding from the province, says township clerk Ernie Hills. Last year the province covered more than 53 per cent of the municipal budget and this year it's down to 48.15 per cent. This roll back forced the municipality to increase its revenue from taxation.

Minden taxes jump 12.5 per cent. see page 11.

The increase in the budget for environmental services stems from the need to control access to the dumps. This is a directive from the Ministry of the Environment, which threatened to close the dumps if the township couldn't put a stop to all the fires.

The increase in costs is based on estimates to fence and provide manpower at the dumps. Other major costs in this area are for the creation of a recycling program to enhance the lifespan of the dumps.

The increased cost for fire protection is the result of a new agreement with Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships fire department that calls for an extra $4,500 for the fire protection standby fee.
